Personal Statement

Family and friends have variously described me as conscientious, highly sociable, sensible and friendly, while my employers and colleagues have praised my adaptability, quick learning of new systems and sociocultural values and working conditions, and overall dedication and punctuality. I enjoy working with people, and consider that my long running and wide experience of tasks, challenges and responsibilities, have supplied me with the ability to easily become a socially inspirational and productive part of the team, yet equally comfortable in working independently. Many years of perfecting my skills in and understanding of customer service has left me a very competent and responsible worker.

Seeking work around London, UK and Spain

Employment History:

March 2013 - Present - Massage Therapist at (most recent employer hidden for confidentiality) Stratford, UK - United Kingdom, (Home/Mobile)

Duties included:

The most important aspect to creating a relationship is your first initial consultation with a new client. When done correctly, this will create the trust your client needs to continue to see you for years to come. As a massage therapist I treat clients by using touch to manipulate the soft-tissue muscles of the body. With my touch, I relieve pain, rehabilitate injuries, reduce stress, increase relaxation, and aid in the general wellness of clients.
